PINK RIBBON MONTH – OCTOBER

October is internationally recognised as Breast Cancer Month and is the most important fund raising period of the year for the National Breast Cancer Foundation. Monday 22 October is Pink Ribbon Day, and all Australians are asked to wear a pink ribbon or wrist band on this day in support of Breast Cancer research. The Pink Ribbon Campaign consists of various fundraising activities that we have highlighted on the back page of our Newsletter.

Ggees will hold our own National Breast Cancer Pink Breakfast on Friday 19 October, at 7.30am so lock the date into your diaries and we will provide you with details closer to the date.

HORSE NEWS

NISHA (Semipalatinsk x Brave Bride)

Nisha is becoming known as “Brave little Nisha” with the way she keeps battling and trying to get to the finish line. Her first up run was September 1 at Morphettville over 1200m with the stable believing the distance would be too short for her. She got bumped and knocked about however battled on to finish second, and those of you that placed an each way bet would have been smiling as she paid $6.30 a place. The stable report was very pleasing saying it was an excellent first up run and she will only improve once she gets over a bit more distance.

Nisha’s second run was again at Morphettville over 1600m on September 22, she began well and enjoyed a good run mid field on the rail, she was left a little flat footed when they sprinted and finished third. Her race fitness did give out on her towards the end, however the stable was pleased with her second up run and believe she will only improve from it. We have discussed the possibility of Nisha coming to Melbourne to race, but the stable have indicated they would like to see her win in Adelaide again before making that decision.

PERMAISCUOUS ( Permai x Danzero)

Permaiscuous had her second run this campaign in the Lets Elope Stakes (G#) over 1400m at the reopening of Flemington with Nick Ryan on board. Nick felt that she did not have the early speed to get across from the very wide gate she drew, she was caught wide, and remained wide throughout the race, however she peaked on her run home. Nick said she ran out of condition and race fitness, he felt she would be more competitive next start.

Permaiscuous next start was at Caulfield in a four year old and upwards Mares Handicap over 1400m, she was the top weight carrying 59kg with apprentice Dean Holland on board who claimed 2 kilos. When she was asked to improve she failed to do so, finishing eleventh beaten 6.7 lengths, on face value her run was disappointing. David has advised he will now put blinkers on her, and go up in distance, we would like to see her Pink Ribbons back in her mane as she seemed to race better when she threw her head around and was “charging” as David kindly puts it. The purpose of the blinkers would be to spark her up and get her to concentrate and focus on the job at hand. With any luck we will see an improvement in her next start.

RED STILETTOS (Pins x Red Sophia)

Red Stiletto is still recovering from her bone chip surgery at Euroa. She won't be expected to make a return until later in the year or early next year as the more time she has to recover, the more likely her injury is to heal – hence a more probable successful return to racing. Red Stiletto has shown too much early ability to be taking any impatient risks with her. So we look forward to her comeback when she will jump onto the interchange bench to replace Permaisucous lease expiry in February.

ZSA ZSA GABEEL (Zabeel x Golden Winds)

Zsa Zsa Gabeel had her first start on 5 September at Balaklava, in a 3YO & Upwards Maiden Plate over 1200m, she finished seventh and was beaten three lengths. She was very impressive being quite green yet knuckled down to the job and worked home strongly at the finish.

Her second start was on 15 September over 1600m however she began fast and raced upside down on the speed against her racing pattern, she still does not know what it is all about as yet.

Third time lucky she started at Balaklava on 26 September and she finished second and vastly improved from her previous two runs. She settled last and traveled nicely, on the turn she was 6 wide, however she ran on very strongly to the line. In three starts she has earned $1450 in prize money, considering she is still learning and being a Zabeel that often take a lot longer to mature this is very pleasing. Depending on how she pulls up will determine her next race.

All Zsa Zsa Gabeel syndicate members would have now received in the mail from Racing Victoria information regarding your Owners Cards and how to activate your card by logging on and entering your details. Please do so to ensure when she races in Victoria you will have no problems with owners ticketing.

STYLE NIGHT WITH BRONII PARKER

The Nisha and Zsa Zsa Gabeel syndicate members attended a style night with Personal Stylist Bronii Parker on the evening of 29 August, held at the beautiful home of Chloe White. Chloe is Priscilla White's sister – syndicate member in Nisha.

Bronii took Michelle Plumptre (in Nisha) and Bianca Sly (in Zsa Zsa Gabeel) shopping and put together some racing outfits suited to each of the ladies. Pictured below are the Bronii Parker models Michelle Plumptre and Bianca Sly

GEES NETWORKING FUNCTION @ SOFITEL

Ggees held a networking function for ladies in Permaisucous, Red Stiletto, Nisha, Zsa Zsa Gabeel and ladies who have expressed interest in and supported Ggees over the last year.

The function held on 5 September at the Academy Pantry, Sofitel Hotel was a different way for 40 women to get to know each other. With a three course meal and plenty of champagne and wine – each guest was asked to stand up and provide a quick "Who am I". Although daunting to speak in front of a room full of women, I received fantastic feedback from so many who felt that the room was full of inspirational women whose stories were interesting, heartfelt and different. As quoted on the night, each lady had something interesting and special to offer the rest of the group, while everyone felt they got to know everyone much better – even if they haven't met before. The night finished with a soprano performance from Angela Pippas guest and manager, to a rousing applause. A few of us retreated to the 35th floor for a nightcap (or cocktails!). And the evening was an overall success. One of which the concept will certainly be repeated in the near future.

Time of his life

SEXPOT Delta Goodrem has perfected her new pout but it was her equally stunning mother Lea who graced the Yarra village on Saturday for the 30th birthday bash of pal David Abela, the guru behind 3degrees marketing. Blessed genes run in the family and it appears Vince Colosimo (below, left) shares a remarkable likeness with the birthday boy, right down to their clobber. The bash at Comme was sprinkled with celebs: Deputy Lord Mayor Gary Singer, his partner Geoffrey Smith; Emma Boling, daughter of Dulcie Boling; Adam Sangster, the stallion son of the late Robert Sangster; and Prada chief Melinda O'Rourke. When it came to Abela raising his glass, he was weighed down by a gift from sultry fiancée Rebecca Amos: a chunky gold Rolex with 27 diamonds. “It’s not something I’ll be wearing to the beach,” Abela vowed. Very sensible. It would leave a huge tan mark.

The NBCF has made it very easy to make a donation towards breast cancer research. All you need to do is SMS 'unique code' to 193 939 and a virtual pink ribbon will be sent to your mobile phone*. Cost of the SMS is $5.55, of which $3 will be donated to breast cancer research.

The NBCF is currently exploring other avenues.
* Suitable for GPRS-activated mobile phones.

PINK Ribbon Magazine – on sale at the end of September. The only cause-related, philanthropic magazine produced on Australian shores, PINK Ribbon

Magazine has raised over $650 000 for breast cancer research since it was launched in 2002.

This beautifully presented lifestyle magazine is compiled by highly respected writers and personalities; and designed to inform and inspire women across all ages.

The 2007 edition of PINK Ribbon Magazine will be available as a tip-on to the October edition of Australian Women's Weekly. It is available from Woolworths supermarkets nationally and from leading newsagencies.

Pink Ribbon Shop – products on sale from September to October

Each year, a number of companies produce limited-edition packaging for existing products or develop completely new products to support the NBCF. Products range from tim-tams and stationary to underwear and thongs

Global Illumination – September 26 to the end of October

As a way of drawing attention to Breast Cancer Month in October, the Estee Lauder Companies initiated the Global Illumination campaign in 2000 to light significant architectural landmarks and monuments around the world pink. In Australia this event is used to launch Breast Cancer Month.

In 2006, more than 30 cities participated in the Illumination including London, New York, Tokyo, Warsaw and Paris, Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. In 2007, 13 Australian cities will be participating in the Global Illumination program, with 25 buildings being illuminated!
